

MORNING APPEAL

SUNDAY.....APRIL 30

THE TREASURY AND BANKS.

The contest going on in Washington between the Secretary of the Treasury and the bankers of New York, that class of bankers who are determined to destroy silver as money, is one of exceeding importance to the people of the United States. Whether there is a misunderstanding between the President and his Secretary of the Treasury is no matter. The fact is just as stated in the last dispatch, while the bankers in New York are doing their utmost to drain the Treasury of gold, they refuse in any way to extend to the Government the least assistance by using some other currency beside gold. If we mistake not, all that will have its effect when Congress meets again, and it will not be strange, if, before the year is out, those bankers in the Eastern cities would find out, to their dismay, that they have over-played themselves; that, after all, the United States when it knows itself and has the courage to act, is stronger than they all are combined, so soon as the people at large understand that these men went deliberately to work to try to so hamper the Government as to force an expensive issue of bonds, and all for no purpose in the world but to beat the money of the people out of existence. It seems to us that the knowledge of that fact ought to awaken such a demand on the part of the people for the recognition of silver, not as a subsidiary coin, not as something subject to gold, but as original money of ultimate redemption, that would enable Mr. Carlisle, without any question, to pay all demands upon him except such as might come through specific contracts in either silver or gold, as he pleases, and the rush of these bankers for gold would suddenly cease. It would suddenly be understood that the credit of the United States was so good in the old country that there was now no further desire to unload American securities, and then the people would understand how those bankers have been preying upon the vitals of the country for twenty years; how merciless was their grip at the throats of the people and what a superhuman effort was required to cast them off. It is an infamous thing that forty or fifty bankers can keep business in alarm, keep the Government in distress, fill scores of newspapers with falsehoods, debauch public sentiment, instill false ideas of the money functions among the people, and continue that sinister game year after year, without hindrance. — Salt Lake Tribune.

Ordinance No. 95.

An Ordinance amending Section one of Ordinance No. 83, regulating fixing and imposing a license on exhibitions of sparring or boxing within the Corporate limits of Carson City, so as to read as follows:

Section 1.—The rate of license for each exhibition or entertainment of sparring or boxing given in any room, hall or building, or any place or grounds within the corporate limits of Carson City, Nevada, where an admission fee is charged, shall be thirty (30) dollars for each of such exhibitions or entertainment of sparring or boxing.

Section 2.—Section one of ordinance No. 83, is hereby repealed.

It is said that the loose talk about the superiority of American railway service will subside when the people get back from the Fair. Railway trains from all over the world will be on exhibition. One that has pulled in already from Canada is of solid mahogany. The interior is built on the Spanish renaissance plan of architecture.

Indianapolis Journal: "There is one thing I like about religion that this here Sam Jones dishes up," said the man with red clay on his boots and hay seed in his beard. "It don't interfere none with the language a feller uses when he's drivin' mules."

Nevada is to have a good exhibit at the World's Fair in spite of the parsimony of the legislature. The people are making up the deficiency by voluntary contributions. — Ogden Times Review.

A postoffice has been opened on the World's fair grounds, and letters will be collected and delivered at all
